STREET CAR COMPROMISE IS MADE BY COUNCIL

FORMER LOCAL MAN TAKES POISON, SHOOTSELF

Transportation For East Richmond Hard Hit By Agreement

SAN PABLO LINE TO BE ABANDONED WITH OTHERS CONTINUED; CITY TO PAVE STANDARD AVENUE

The street car situation in Richmond was settled by the council last evening.

It adopted a resolution confirming the proposals made by the Key System Transit company. The motion to adopt was made by Martin, seconded by Hartnett, and adopted by the unanimous vote of those present. The absentees were Collins and Garrard.

The line on San Pablo avenue between Macdonald and McBryde avenues will be abandoned, but the other lines in the city will be operated.

PAVING MONEY IN ESCROW

Anticipating the action of the council the Key System Transit Company had placed in escrow $20,000 in the Mechanics bank, but this cannot be touched until certain conditions are met. This money, if it is released will be used toward paying the cost of paving the center strip of San Pablo avenue.

And in this connection the council adopted a resolution awarding the contract to the California Construction Company, for the San Pablo avenue paving.

CITY TO PAVE STANDARD AVENUE

In return for the Key System Transit company's agreeing to abandon its line on San Pablo avenue, but to continue its other lines, the city of Richmond agrees to pay the entire cost of paving Standard avenue between the rails of the company, and also to exempt the company from repaving any of the streets on which it now has rails.

NEW 50-YEAR FRANCHISE GIVEN

It also agrees to give the company new franchises for fifty years, and the company will surrender its present franchises.

The Key System kindly consents to permit the city or any private enterprise to run a bus line on San Pablo avenue.

The $20,000 now in escrow in the Mechanics bank cannot be touched until the Key System has been given its 50-years franchises.

Under the agreement, practically the entire eastern section of the city will be left without transportation facilities.

September 1st, 1927.
TO THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF RICHMOND:

Numerous conferences between representatives of the City of Richmond and the Key System Transit Company have resulted in the following agreement:

Name Change For Two Avenues To Be Considered

At some future date the council will consider the recommendation of the planning commission for the change of the names of Clinton and Solito avenues.

Scott said the matter was one of considerable importance to the people of the city, and no action should be taken until every phase of the question had been considered.

A SAVING SERVICE

Broken metal parts, practically all of them are now successfully welded and made as strong and serviceable as new. Often welding saves not only the cost of a new part but the work of tearing down a machine and the loss of time which is often the greatest expense.

In the Buyers Guide on the classified page you will find a dependable firm which specializes in this saving service.

Victim Sends Bullet Through Chest As Wife Calls Doctor

Illness Of Many Years Is Believed Reason For Suicide

Driven to desperation by illness of many years standing Arthur G. Davis, 69, former Richmond man, employed as switchman on the Santa Fe Railroad, and brother-in-law of Mrs. Al Browning of Richmond yesterday took poison at his home in Franklin Canyon, and when efforts were made to summon a doctor, deliberately walked to the garage of his home and fired a shot from a .38 calibre revolver into his chest, defeating an attempt to save his life. Rushed to the county hospital, he died five minutes after reaching the institution.

Davis was well known as an active member of Martinez lodge of Knights of Pythias. Recently he had been employed as a watchman at the Columbia Steel Company's Pittsburg plant.

TOOK STRYCHNINE
"I have eaten sandwiches with strychnine in them," Davis calmly related to his wife and Marion Brewen, at noon.

"We'd better call a doctor," Brewen declared.
"If you do I'll shoot myself," Davis responded.

SUMMONED DOCTOR

Believing that he might detract the man's mind from his purpose Brewen said he had a letter to

Last Rites For Louis Burnham To Be Today

Last rites for Louis Burnham, 63, of 2103 Barrett avenue, killed Friday afternoon when a trolley at the Standard Oil plant in Richmond, ran over him, will be conducted from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. C. G. Lindemann will officiate at the services. Cremation will follow in Berkeley crematory.

Burnham was walking along the track at the time of the tragedy, and did not notice his danger until the car was upon him. Warned by the shouts of his fellow employees he attempted to escape by running down the track. When he tried to jump to one side, he slipped and fell across the rails, both trolley and trailer in front passing over him at the hips.

Burnham is survived by his widow, Harriet Burnham.

Action On Plans For Building Of Wharf Deferred

No action was taken by the council at its meeting last evening on the proposal of Francis Betts Smith to draw the plans and specifications for the new wharf and wharf shed to be erected on the inner harbor, for a compensation of five per cent.

More time is deemed necessary to consider the proposal, as it is considered by some as being excessive.

3 SHIPS RADIO OLD GLORY CALL FOR ASSISTANCE

Radio Reports Indicate Plane Is 600 Miles Off Cape Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—An S. O. S. reported to have come from the New York to Rome monoplane Old Glory was reported in two radio messages received early today by the Radio Corporation of America from the steamers Carmania and Lapland. Both messages were timed 8:09 a. m. G. M. C. (3:09 a. m. eastern standard time). No destinations were given. The report merely stated that an S. O. S. message had been received from the plane.

Four hours before receiving this message, The Old Glory was reported 200 miles east of Cape Race, Newfoundland. Flaring on the basis of Old Glory's speed of 100 miles an hour, the plane was 600 miles out to sea when the call for help was received.

The S. O. S. was also received by the Steamer Transylvania in latitude 50.48 north; longitude 42.04 west. The ship has altered its course to lend assistance to the plane if it has been forced down.

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, Sept. 6.—At 7 o'clock tonight (New York daylight saving time) the wind, accompanied by a drizzling rain, started to blow from the north-east.

This indicates that the monoplane Old Glory, which hopped off this afternoon from Old Orchard, Me., for Rome may encounter some unpleasant weather.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 6.—Favored by light northwest winds and clear weather the monoplane Old Glory was sighted over Parrsboro, Nova Scotia shortly after six o'clock on her way across Atlantic.

The plane was flying high, and headed east for Cape Breton coast. When Old Glory passed over Parrsboro, N. B. at 5:15 this afternoon it was flying unusually low, the occupants waved to the crowds assembled at various points.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The first report from Old Glory after her hop off from Old Orchard was picked up by radio stations here shortly before six o'clock this evening.

Old Glory's radio was working perfectly. "We are passing over St. Johns, New Brunswick and making 100 miles per hour, all well."

That was the first hint of the progress of the flight to Rome and indicated that the early stages of the journey were being made in better time than Bertrand and Hill had expected to average in the 4000-mile trip.

Mineral Product Value In County Is $2,610,553

Mineral production in Contra Costa county during 1926 had a value of $2,610,553, according to the annual report of Lloyd L. Root, state mineralogist.

Negligence Of Safety Factors Found In Death Of L. Burnham

Employees At Oil Plant Testify To Having Warned Burnham

Coroner Aubrey Wilson last night conducted four inquests into the deaths of persons who passed away last week.

The jury found that Louis Burnham came to his death due to general mutilation of the body caused by being run over by a trolley car at the Standard Oil plant on September 2. While the jury found that death was accidental, they also found negligence of safety provisions. Dr. U. S. Abbott testified as to the cause of death. Employees of the company who witnessed the accident gave testimony as to the immediate circumstances.

NOTORIOUS TESTIMONIES

Joan Murray, motorman, and W. C. Engstrom, on the trailer that struck Burnham, testified that they did not see the man on the tracks and did not know what they had done until the impact made the trolley jump the tracks. Other witnesses testified to seeing Burnham on the truck and warning him of the approach of the trolley.

In the case of Mrs. Anna Haberkorn, who committed suicide, following a fit of loneliness, the jury found that death was due to shock from a fractured brain and shattered skull, as a result of a gun shot self inflicted. Testimony was presented by Dr. J. W. Bumgarner, who performed an operation on the woman when she was removed to the Cottage hospital by Patrolman George Benseley, who found Mrs. Haberkorn on the floor of her home on Belvedere avenue.

No Action Taken On Budget And New Tax Rate

No mention was made of the budget or the city tax rate at the meeting of the council last night. It is understood there are several items in the budget on which the members of the council, have not yet been able to reach an agreement.

It is expected that as a result of meetings to be held this week, all matters will be adjudicated, and is likely the tax rate will be adopted next Monday night.

Tax Rate For El Cerrito Is Same As That Of Last Year

Purchase of a street sweeper for the city was laid over for one week to give the members an opportunity to thoroughly test the sweeper.

City Attorney Wilbur S. Pierce reported that he had not received the search of the description of the boundary line of the city but would have it by next meeting night.

THE SILENT ELEMENT

The immediate results of the president's now famous 10-word statement seems to be a general combing of the field for a republican candidate. In this report both major parties are scratch starters and the race for nominations will be no less interesting than the final run-off.

Modern president makers are not so particular about the political complexion of the candidates as they are about his willingness to obey organization leaders. Standard Oil never cared about a man's political affiliation, so long as he delivered the goods. Occasionally these influences have been suspected of controlling both conventions and both nominees. Some action of this kind was charged by the late Wm. J. Bryan during the national convention of 1924.

This year, however, political leaders are facing an unknown element. That is the 50 per cent of voters who for some reason failed to participate in either the Harding or Coolidge campaigns, notwithstanding strenuous efforts to get out the vote. This silent element, holding the balance of power may conclude to get into the game.

It is reported that little King Michael's bright saying are being broadcast for the enlightenment and amusement of his subjects, and it must require a pretty fine patriotic sense to know how to laugh with the king without having to laugh at him, sometimes.—Kansas City Star.

A national cosmetic association claims that women spent 325 millions on hair cuts, shampoos and waves last year—or more than Uncle Sam spent for ships to rule the waves. Anyway women have something to show for the investment.

Those Latin-Americans will probably never realize how terribly they are being oppressed by the United States unless they read what is said at the Institute of Politics at Williamstown.

When Lindbergh got to Paris he probably thought the hardest part of his job was over, but of course he couldn't anticipate the receptions he had coming to him.

It is said that lobsters are disappearing from the salt waters adjoining America, but there will still be plenty of them on dry land so long as the girls look as nice as they now do.

When these internationalists and pacifists preach disarmament for the United States why don't they carry around a China with them as a benevolent example of disarmament?

How To Earn Money!

By SARA SPENCE
I have an order for a dozen hand-made baby dresses. The mother is leaving all of the details to me. What length should they be? How can I get more orders of this kind?
RUBY H.
The average length for baby dresses nowadays is about twenty-one inches, although this is a matter of individual preference. Showy, bastille or nainsook, as sheer and soft as can be obtained, should be chosen and the only trimmings permissible of the new-born baby's dresses are hand-run tucks, fine embroidery and the daintiest of lace sparingly used. You might be able to get orders for baby clothes through the various woman's exchanges.

I am an elderly woman and live with my son and daughter-in-law. I have many long, lonely hours that I would like to devote to earning a little money. I can do plain sewing. What do you suggest?
MRS. F.—
Richmond, Va.
Have you thought of making up baby quilts? Make up a few samples and leave at the leading specialty or gift shops in your city. Then too, you might get orders by calling upon prospective mothers and grandmothers. Offer to make these little quilts up in special colors or designs.

What is a fair charge per page for home typing, including one extra copy besides the original?
VERDA W.
From 10 cents to 15 cents a sheet is the average price. For clients who use your services regularly you might make special rates.

I followed your advice and am conducting a small lending library in my own home and am meeting with success. I charge 5 cents a week for each book and two cents a day for each day over a week. I believe you have readers who will be interested to hear about this.
CLARA W.
Fine. I am glad to hear of your success. Now you might add a file of the latest magazines. This little venture will require only very small investment and the returns should net you a tidy sum of money. You might also start a stock of books for children.

I have a mailing list of all the farmers in my community. Where can I sell it? Also what does one usually charge for mailing lists?
Farm supply houses are always on the lookout for an active list of farmers, also mail-order houses might offer a market for your list. Prices vary. For a mailing list that is "live" and fairly difficult to get the charges vary from 1 cent to 5 cents a name.

JUST WHY "IDEAL MATES" ARE IDEAL
"Home's not merely four square walls"—who ever said that spoke a scientific truth. Home is where there is companionship and a mutual understanding between two lovers who have set out to learn life's lessons together. And there is nothing more precious than a home containing a happy couple who share and share alike.
A log hut in the hills is a palace when it houses an ideal married couple. Home ties are tied with harmony, and the harmony of the home is based on marriage. In the marriage state, there should be the deepest love. Nothing in life is so important to a man or woman as a happy marriage. Before this, all else, wealth, fame, careers, shrink to insignificance. With Irving Berlin one sings "What does it matter?" Nothing matters very much to the man and woman who are supremely happy and secure in the love of one another.

It is only natural for every individual to seek the companionship of the opposite sex, but every individual should look for that one who will make the best companion, bring the best children into the world, and be the sweetest sweetheart through the passing years.

The most successful marriages are built on such unions as this—similar types in brain development and in physical build. Remember the law "Each individual thinks according to his type and acts according to the way he thinks." This means that their ideas, tastes and pleasures will be much the same. Even in their choice of food, they like the same elements and kind of cooking. See how well they look together and how they dance together!

REAL PAIRS
They enjoy the same books, the same games. When the husband says: "Let's go to a show" she responds joyfully with: "Yes, hon—let's."
When she takes a pie it's just the kind he wants. When he spans the baby, she would have spanked it too; when he tells her his grievances in business, she is all sympathy. It she explains how the conductor has been insolent to her on the street car, he is ready to settle everything in her favor. They are affectionate to about the same degree. She never repulses his embraces and is in every way responsive.

"Similar types seldom clash for they blend harmoniously with one another." In the ideal marriage such as this, the man is more blond than the wife. If she is fair, he is still the lighter in hair, eyes and skin. This means that the wife is more submissive; he is the leader. As to size, it is better for the wife to be slightly smaller than the husband. Husband and wife should be as one, should work together for domestic happiness and for business success. When couples are physically, mentally and spiritually mated there is nothing which can put their love asunder.

Questions concerning beauty building through physical culture will receive the personal attention of Lady Grey, beauty culturist, and should be signed by the writer's full name and address, which will not be used without permission. Address her, care of this newspaper.

How To Earn Money at Home.
By Sara Spence
When a wife is being reminded continually of her faults by her mother-in-law and must share the same home with her, conditions are anything but pleasant. But what can she do to bring about peace and harmony in the camp? That is what Ernestine wants to know in her letter:
Dear Patricia Lee:
We have been married ten years and had it not been for one thing the years would have been reasonably happy. But my husband's mother lives with us and keeps telling him of my faults. He is a good man, a hard worker and is kind to both of us. His mother is old and has no income of her own, and his is not large enough to maintain separate homes for us. I am so unhappy that there are times I feel as if I must leave. We have two small children and I would hate to have them suffer.

Don't think of breaking up your home. Try your level best to overlook your mother-in-law's attitude. Remember she is growing old, then too, all mothers are a bit prejudiced where sons are concerned. Try your best to be patient with her and be thankful that you have a good husband and two little children to love. Your husband is not to blame for his mother's attitude and you may be sure that the situation is just as hard for him as it is for you. Most every mother, Ernestine, feels that nothing is too good for her boy—and that is an attitude that most every daughter-in-law must accept. One of these days, you too will be filling the role of mother-in-law to some one, and then you'll see the other side of the picture. In the meantime, make the best of things.

There's an old saying, "No home is big enough for two families," and this old proverb is proving true in the case of Ralph Y.—and his young wife. I may be old-fashioned, but in my opinion, every young married couple should be given married life in a home of their own, even if it is only a two room "walk-up."

Says the MAN
Dear Patricia Lee:
We have been married a year and as we are both only children, as our parents have no other sons and daughters we made an agreement to spend half of our time with my parents and the other half with my wife's parents. But somehow the plan doesn't

I think both you and your wife are wrong, Ralph. You should have a home of your own—and that, quickly—before baby comes, if possible. You will be much happier in your own little nest. At any rate, by getting into a home of your own you will put an end to much strife and bitterness.

THE FIRST AUTO, with Barney Oldfield and Patsy Ruth Miller is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
It is a bright summer afternoon in the year 1896; the farmers and their families have gathered to watch the famous trotting races in the small, mid-western town of Maple City. The winner of the cup is Sloc Eyes, owned by the keeper of the Hussy stables, Hank Armstrong, whose joy is short-lived when his son fails to appear at the celebration of his father's victory. By fall Hank is the most popular man in town, the crowds that gather nightly at the drug store both respect and revere him.

"Been out to the farm," declared Hank, biting off the end of a cigar. "Got two mighty lively looking colts this year."

The crowd stood awed in the presence of the town's greatest man.
"How's crops," ventured one of the chess players.
"Good!" affirmed Hank. Whereupon, everyone silently nodded at these words of wisdom.

"Say, Hank," ventured another bystander, "What do you think of the new school board?"
"All right," nonchalantly responded Hank.
"Think th' council ought to give them Indianapolis fellows a franchise for a street car line through here?" questioned another drug-store hound.

The crowd paused, expectant. Hank frowned at the mention of street cars. Then he smiled disdainfully.
"What for?" he answered. "We all got horses to drive, ain't we?"

The sally brought forth a shout of merriment from the crowd, much to the questioner's discomfort. And Hank made his way to the door and out into the night. He had not seen his son, Bob, sitting in the rear of the store, and if he had he would have beamed approvingly at the tableau there. But had he looked closer the approval might have vanished from his kindly face.

Bob was cozily ensconced at a table in the rear, opposite none other than Rose Bentley, the Mayor's daughter and the belle of Maple City. Rose... a picture as she sat there, lingering over a chocolate ice cream soda. Rose, with her hair done up in the latest style pompadour with bangs, her big hat riding high on the mass of curls, and the little lace frills spreading out over her leg-of-mutton sleeves, had a perfect right to her title of the village belle. There wasn't another girl around who had as small a waist as Rose—without lacing for it. You could span it with your two hands—at least Bob often imagined you could.

Yet tonight Bob was absorbed in the little beveled-edged, icing coated cookies that had accompanied the sodas. His own glass remained untouched, so engrossed was he in his construction work. With pieces of the straw from his soda, and the round cookies with the holes in the center he was assembling a little contrivance that looked strangely like the model of an automobile. His brow was drawn into a frown, and he did not notice Rose's glances about the room. Rose tried to be interested, but after all, things like cylinders and connecting rods and gasoline engines were just a trifle hard to grasp with any degree of comprehension. Now, had it been couched more in the language of love Rose could have understood a little better.

"You see, Rose, this is how an engine works," Bob began to explain, having completed his model. Rose turned quickly toward the table and nodded, but the interest was somewhat feigned. She pretended, however, to marvel at the sight, and touched the pseudo wheels gingerly with her delicate little fingers.

"It certainly is wonderful, Bob," she agreed, anxious to interest this good looking young man across the table from her.

Bob grinned, pleased at her appreciation, and turned again to his model. Rose watched him for a few minutes longer, and then as he became engrossed in his work, she once more looked about the drug store. As her gaze traveled over the loungers she gave a start. There stood Steve Bentley, just back from the city, leaning over his father's cigar counter.

The vision of Rose was by no means lost on Steve. He paused in his conversation and averted his hand at the girl. Rose smiled, just a little surprised and certainly pleased at attracting Steve's attention. After all, Steve was really rather a nice looking, thoughtful fellow. As her gaze traveled over the loungers she gave a start. There stood Steve Bentley, just back from the city, leaning over his father's cigar counter.

As a matter of fact Steve was reaching into his father's cigar case, from which he withdrew a package of Sweet Caporals. Opening the box of cigarettes he drew forth the little souvenir button that came with each and every pack. Steve read the words on the button with something akin to admiration. Then he pinned it on the inside of his coat lapel. Then he took out a cigarette and lit it. Rose, staring, caught her breath and put her hand to her mouth in surprise. The idea—the very idea of turning to smoke a cigarette. She dared to Bob, but he was still intent on his model, and her eyes returned to the smoker, fascinated by his very rashness.

But Steve, noting Rose's shocked expression, puffed on nonchalantly, hoping to make as much impression as possible on the village belle. But his show of bravado was short-lived. His father came up behind him. The older man stopped short. Then he began to glower angrily. As Steve, still puffing away for Rose's benefit, turned to one side to blow out the smoke, he saw his father. The boy started guiltily, and forced a sickly grin.

"Throw that damned thing away!" roared Bentley, senior. "No son of mine is going to smoke 'em, even if I do sell 'em in my store!"

Steve hesitated, then tossed the weed away, laughing, as though to say he didn't want it anyhow. He sauntered over to the table where Bob and Rose sat. Rose was now gazing on the young man with open admiration. Steve paused opposite Rose and glanced down at Bob's wretched model. His lips curled in contempt. But as he looked at Rose his approval knew no bounds.

"You're growing prettier every day, Rose," began Steve, "and you've grown to be quite a young lady since I went to the city."

Rose was a little flustered. She wasn't quite sure what to say, so she blushed. At that moment Bob looked up from his work, and seeing this new addition to the party, frowned.

"How'd you like to drive over to a dance at Mayville with me tomorrow night?" Steve was pressing his advantage. He winked outrageously at Rose, paying not the slightest attention to Bob's frown.

"But Mr. Haynes, the inventor from Detroit, is going to be at your house tomorrow night," Bob interposed quickly, turning to Rose. "You surely wouldn't want to miss him, would you?"

"That's right," Rose turned to Bob. "I'm sorry," she looked back at Steve, "but I really couldn't go, because I do want to hear Mr. Haynes."

"SERVICE FOR LADIES" PLAYS AT CALIFORNIA

A head waiter, the most famous in all Europe, meets a beautiful American heiress while vacationing incognito at a fashionable Alpine inn. A visiting king greets him with delight. The hotel attendants wait on him hand and foot. His every whim is immediately satisfied. Daughter and wealthy papa decide that verily, this handsome gentleman must be "someone." Time flies and friendship quickly develops. At the end of his furlough, seeing the yawning gulf which divides him from the girl, our distinguished stranger decides to spend one glorious night and leave her life forever. The ice carnival takes place and after a most eventful evening, she describes the chasm which separates them before taking the next train to Paris. Days pass. One fine evening who should enter his dining room but the girl. What happens? Don't forget she imagines that the chasm he described has to do with his estate; she doesn't realize that he is only a head waiter.

That's the situation around which Adolphe Menjou's new Paramount picture "Service for Ladies" reaches the California theatre today. It has been built, Kathryn Carter is the star's new leading woman. Harry D'Arrast directed.

"UPSTAGE" IS NEWEST FILM AT RICHMOND

Norma Shearer, screen star, had to learn something even harder than the Charleston, the intricacies of book and wing dancing, no less, at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios recently.

This was part of her preparation for her new role as the heroine of "Upstage," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, which comes to the Richmond theatre starting today.

Miss Shearer plays a vaudeville actress, one of a song and dance team in the new story which is laid in scenes in vaudeville circuit.

Monta Bell directed the production with a notable cast that, in addition to screen celebrities, includes a number of well known vaudeville folk.

Playing in support of the star are Oscar Shaw, Dorothy Philmore, Owen Lee and Ward Crane.

Other film features include Ben Turpin in his latest laugh riot "The Jolly Jilter," and the latest Fox News reel.

Two Injured As Stage Crashes Into Machine

Two persons were injured Monday night when a Portland stage of the California Transit Company, Oakland bound, crashed into the rear of an automobile operated by W. H. Hill, 814 Fifty-second street, Oakland, on the Hercules bridge, near Pinole.

Sadie Running of Eugene, Ore., a passenger on the stage, was cut about the face and was taken to an Oakland hospital by Oscar Cedar, 892 Forty-fifth street, Oakland. Mrs. Hill was cut about the legs.

Traffic Captain George Belon and Patrolman Barbe investigated the accident, but no arrests were made.

The stage was driven by J. L. Lynds. According to the traffic officers the stage crashed into the passenger car when a long line of traffic was brought to an abrupt halt.

Street Car Problem In City Is Settled By Compromise

Richmond and of the Key System Transit Company for the purpose of equitably adjusting street car problems in the city of Richmond to the end that the Transit Company should continue to operate its lines in Richmond upon some basis which would reduce, in a measure at least, its operating losses, have resulted in an agreement as to the proper terms upon which all matters in controversy should be settled. The following memorandum of agreement has been approved by the Key System Transit Company upon the understanding that its terms shall become effective upon their ratification by a resolution passed by the City Council of Richmond, subject only to the immediate preparation and presentation of the necessary formal agreements and applications as hereinafter indicated.

1. San Pablo Avenue. Company to discontinue operation of street cars and maintenance of tracks on San Pablo avenue between Macdonald avenue and McBryde avenue. In the event that a bus line is installed either by the city or by private capital over this route, company to exchange transfer privileges with same. Company either (a) to pave the center strip of San Pablo avenue between Macdonald and McBryde avenues at its own expense under open specifications, the work to pass the inspection of the city engineer, and the company to furnish a bond for the completion of the same on or before December 15, 1927, or (b) to deposit the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000.00) in escrow in a bank in the city of Richmond, said sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000.00) to be paid over by said escrow holder to the city of Richmond or to the successful bidder on the paving work above referred to at the option of the city immediately upon the striking off, selling and awarding to the company by the city of the franchise or franchises hereinafter referred to in paragraph numbered 7, said sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000.00) to be applied on the cost of said paving work. Company to extend existing agreement between contractor and company relating to operation of buses.

2. Standard Avenue. Company to relocate its tracks on Standard avenue, installing single track along center of said street. City of Richmond to pave at its own expense the portion of the street between the tracks and two feet on each side thereof after tracks have been relocated and ballasted. Company not to be required to pave any portion of said street.

3. Main Line. Company to continue main line service and operation to Standard Oil company plant at Scofield avenue and to maintain such other service beyond this point as traffic conditions require.

4. 23rd Street Line. Company to continue present service and operations and to furnish approximately 20-minute service between high school and Macdonald and San Pablo avenues.

5. 6th Street Line. Company not to continue adequate operation of cars on Sixth street line and to take care of peak hour traffic requirements.

6. Relocations. Company not to be required by city to relocate any of its tracks in the city of Richmond for a period of three years, except as indicated in paragraph numbered 2 hereof.

7. New Franchise. Company to apply immediately in accordance with the laws of the state of California and the charter of the city of Richmond for a franchise or franchises to lay down, operate and maintain a street railway in said city along and upon all streets and portions of streets covered by existing franchises, saving and excepting the portion of San Pablo avenue referred to in paragraph numbered 1 hereof, said application to be for a franchise or franchises containing the following terms and conditions:

(a) Term to be for a period of fifty (50) years for the conveyance of persons and property for hire.

(b) Franchise to permit either single or double tracks.

(c) Company to be expressly exempted from repaving or remacadamizing streets or highways used by tracks of company between rails and for a distance of two feet on each side thereof, city to bear expense of removing or replacing any paving when the removal or replacing thereof is caused by change of street grade established after the laying of the original track or by repaving of entire street surface, company not to be required to construct or install in the first instance any paving along the whole or any part of the street or streets upon the route of the franchise. In this connection company to be required only to make repairs to paving made necessary by normal wear and tear resulting from use of route and also to repair all damage to paving caused by repairs or replacements of tracks by the company.

(d) Company to be permitted to curb its tracks wherever and whenever feasible, curbed sections to be agreed upon by company and city engineer.

(e) City to agree as expressed condition subsequent that it shall not take any action or grant any franchise or permit impairing the earning capacity of the company, and shall not permit any motor vehicle transporting passengers for hire to operate for any greater distance than two blocks on any street upon which the company may be operating its lines under the franchise, provided, however, that the company shall furnish and maintain such service as may be necessary to reasonably and adequately meet traffic requirements.

(f) Such other formal requirements as may be required by law and the charter of the city of Richmond.

The city of Richmond and the council thereof to strike off, sell, and award said new franchises to said Company, provided, always that said company after notice of said application or applications (Galley—Two Agreement Text) and after submission of sealed bids by persons or corporations desiring to purchase said franchise or franchises, shall be the highest cash bidder therefor. The city of Richmond and the council thereof and the company to terminate by mutual agreement all existing franchises now held by company in the said city of Richmond.

Said agreement to be executed at the time of said award.

The Men's Fellowship club enjoyed an entertaining recital of travels in Europe given by Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms, who recently returned as a Rotary delegate abroad, at a meeting of the organization at the First Presbyterian church last night.

Churches in Italy and France are exceptionally beautiful, Helms declared, no expense being spared to make them magnificent temples of worship.

Two numbers were given by the Presbyterian male quartet, composed of J. H. Plate, S. A. Marshall, S. H. Clarke, and Ray Patterson, with Mrs. Charles St. John at the piano.

A delicious dinner was served by the Ladies Aid of the church, Charles St. John, president of the Fellowship, presided at the session.

Terms heretofore set forth, and upon the striking off, selling and awarding of said new franchise or franchises to the Key System Transit company, as outlined in paragraph numbered 7 hereof, the application for abandonment of certain trackage in the city of Richmond shall be withdrawn by said company by stipulation with the city of Richmond, said stipulation to contain a statement of the basis of agreement herein set forth and the reasons therefor.

Sanford Chosen President Of State Builders

P. M. Sanford, local builder was chosen president of the State Builders Exchange at the eighth annual convention held at Santa Cruz, Sanford, who is also president of the Chamber of Commerce here, takes a prominent part in civic affairs as well as the affairs of the Builders exchange.

The convention closed Monday after recommendations were made for a uniform building code for the entire state and one exchange for the state instead of separate bodies for Northern and Southern California. The latter was urged by the southern delegation.

Other officers chosen were G. M. Latta, San Jose, vice-president; George W. Israel, Pasadena, second vice-president; E. W. Shaw, Oakland, secretary and Dan Wagner, Santa Barbara, sergeant-at-arms.

Exchange officers announced that negotiations were under way with Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco to draw up new building laws for the city. The plan would require the mayor to elect a commission which in turn would pick a contractor, architect and engineer to draw up the code and report to the board of supervisors. An elaborate banquet at noon closed the meet. A pirate hunt for children was held in the morning. Fifty purses were hidden in the sand.

are sure indications that the arch across the ball of the foot has broken down. Thousands of people suffer intense pain, cramps and burning callouses in this part of the foot without knowing the real cause.

Dr. Scholl's Arch Supports will quickly and permanently relieve this condition by gently but firmly supporting the depressed bones, and removing the strain and pressure on the weakened parts.

Perhaps you have some other form of foot trouble such as corns, bunions, weak ankles, cramped toes, painful heels, etc. If so, come in and let us give you a Free Demonstration. You will find that it is no longer necessary to suffer foot aches and pains.

A blue gas flame keeps your cooking utensils clean

A perfectly working Gas Range is a delight to use.

But at times, food boiling over or dust drawn in through the air mixers will carbonize and unless the burners are cleaned these particles will close the holes or ports of the burners. The result is a yellow flame or a "popping" noise when you turn off the gas. This is improper combustion.

The burners of your Gas Range are easily removed and should be cleaned each month to insure perfect combustion and cleanliness. Merely boil the burners in a solution of lye water or caustic soda until they are thoroughly clean.

You'll find it easy to keep your Gas Range as clean as any other piece of furniture in the house. The range will operate perfectly. It will last longer. You'll enjoy its speed, cleanliness and the ease of cooking with Gas—just as thousands of other women are doing today.

INTRAMURAL U. C. GAMES INAUGURATED

BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—The intramural sports program of the University of California, which will provide participation in a dozen sports for approximately three thousand men, will be inaugurated this week.

Last year 2325 men were members of the 267 competing teams and this season it is estimated that there will be a record number of entries in every department. This program of athletics completely dwarfs the intercollegiate competition of the school and is regarded by C. M. Price, football coach of the Berkeley school, as the answer to the oft-repeated charge that athletics in American universities are for the few.

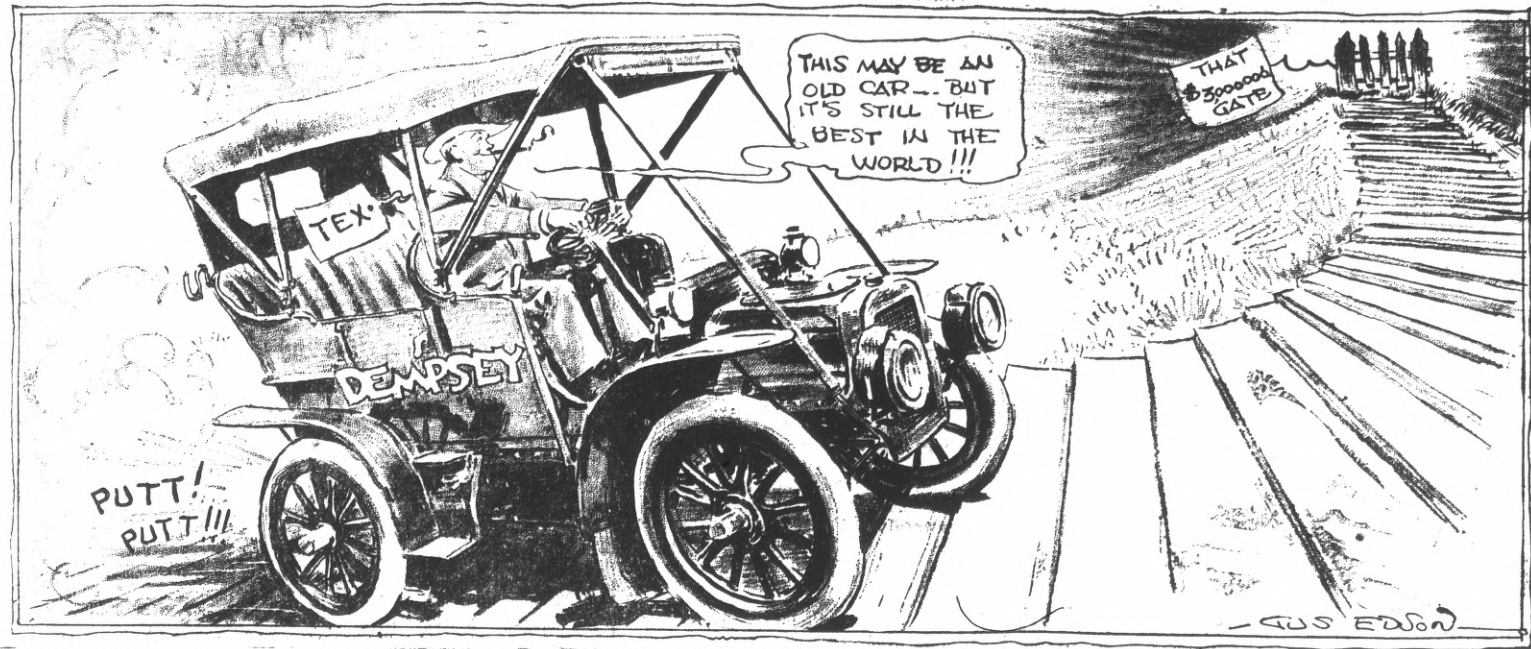

Critics of major athletics fail to realize, Price says, that where forty-five men comprise the varsity squad competing against other schools, two or three hundred men are playing the same sport in intramural games and deriving the same benefits and the same enjoyment.

This week sees the final contest of the intercollegiate football series and the launching of the annual interfraternity baseball schedule. Other sports to be participated in by teams representing fraternities, clubs, classes and organized groups include swimming, water polo, basketball, tennis, track, handball, cross country running, soccer, and crew.

Besides these events there are others for individual competition. Trophies are awarded individuals and organizations.

Ralph Proctor, supervisor of intramural sports, points out that last year 267 teams, representing 194 organizations and including 194 organizations and including 2400 men took part in the 31 events held under the supervision of his department.

Former Lightweight Champ Committed To Asylum

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—On his feet and smiling, Ad Wogast, former lightweight champion of the world, took the heaviest blow of his long fighting career today.

Mercifully, Ad did not comprehend the import of the words that committed him to the state asylum for the insane at Patton. His weakened mind was in the past, among the ghosts of the warriors with whom he had crossed gloves amid the plaudits of thousands of maddened fight fans.

Ad's last appearance in the great, outside world was a quiet and pitiful affair. He stood before Judge Robert H. Scott at a hearing by the County Lunacy Commission in a hospital psychopathic ward, and told of his plans for the future.

"Give me a week to train in and I can lick any lightweight in the game," said the little man who once traded punches with the best of them.

"I can go twenty rounds right now as well as I ever did. The only difference now and a long time is that it takes me longer to train."

Up to the time Ad was taken to the psychopathic ward last week, he had been training—training for a return bout with Joe Rivers, the Mexican lightweight, one of his old antagonists.

Dr. Victor Parkin, psychiatrist, said all Ad wanted to do was to get down to the right weight again.

Dr. Parkin stated that Ad went about the hospital mildly confused and slightly ascertained. He showed signs of deterioration of the brain cells, the alienist said.

The diagnosis of Ad's sporting friends was simpler. They said he was "punch goofy," that his mind had been weakened by the terrific battering his body took in many a gruelling fight.

For several years, since his mind began to go, Ad had been the ward of Jack Doyle, boxing promoter. Last week his friends found it necessary to have him committed to a hospital.

To Dr. Parkin felt the tragic task of questioning Ad about his shadow world.

"Are you just as good now as you ever were?" the alienist asked. "Sure I am, I'm better," said the former champion.

"You never were beaten, Ad, were you?"

"Oh, I was knocked down twice but never really beaten. None of them can beat me now. I just need a little bit more time to do some road work."

Ad said he had been married twice but didn't know whether he still had a wife. He wandered into a tale about a canary bird that used to sing in welcome when he turned home.

Dempsey To Take It Easy In Preparation For 'Big Bout'

By Leo P. Flynn, manager of some golf. Jack Dempsey.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Following our plan of studying conditions, Dempsey did not box today and unless we deem it wise, will lay off the gloves tomorrow. He went on the road five miles and we had

I want to reiterate that we are not going to overdo the boxing or any other sort of work before this all-important battle with Gene Tunney on Sept. 22.

I like Dempsey's mental outlook this time even better than before.

his last fight, the Sharkey bout he is sure of winning without becoming overconfident. And don't think that such veterans as myself or Dempsey think it will be an easy task. We will take plenty of work and plenty of ability for any man to beat Tunney.

We probably will do most of the remainder of the boxing schedule in semi-private. Of course there will be representatives of the press and all information that is legitimate will be given out. It isn't the idea of being secretive that prompts our plan at all. It is largely because in the great crowds that come to see Dempsey work there is a consequent enthusiasm that interferes with proper training conditions.

We have to have some semblance of privacy to get down to fundamentals and iron out the wrinkles. This, I can't do when too many well-meaning friends interfere. I've got to think of Dempsey first as it is his future that is at stake in this bout.

Now as to criticisms that Jack should work more and longer don't you think it silly for a man who trained for months and had reached fine form in a fight such as the Sharkey bout to start right in again and work like blazes for two months and try to fight again? Why, if Jack had not rested between times and then worked himself back in tune, he would have been hopelessly stale and no advisors in the world and no work he might do would have made him fit.

The San Mateo team has a record of 20 straight wins with no defeats on its shield. Mike Burke is manager. Gene Camozzi south-paw pitcher has a reputation that is attracting attention out of bush circles.

The prospective lineup is: Moss, center; Roberts, Kamb, pitchers; Greathouse, if it base; Daley, second base; Bobbert third base; Lane, shortstop; Huzefka, O'Rourke, Briggs, Hanson, in the outfield.

The Sannies took Pittsburg down the line Sunday by a score of 3 to 2. The standings in the Three C. League are as follows:

OWES HER LIFE TO FONG
WAN HERB
Stockton, Cal. March 21, 1927.
To the Fong Wan Herb Co.:
I have been a sufferer with rheumatism of the heart for some time. I became so ill that my doctors, who were many, gave me but a week or ten days to live.

I decided to try the Fong Wan
Herb Co., and to the amazement of all who attended me, I was able to walk into their office after taking the herbs one week.
I have now taken them four weeks and I not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments.

I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herbs, as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for his kind-

SHOT SELF
Davis walked into another room, obtained a revolver and went to the garage. As Mrs. Davis was hurrying to a telephone she heard a shot fired. Rushing back to the home she went to the garage and found Davis mortally wounded. Brewen's summons brought an ambulance immediately and Davis was taken to the county hospital. Death claimed him within five minutes.

HAD BEEN ILL
Davis had been suffering from a severe ailment for the last four or five years and his suicide is believed to have been the result of temporary aberration due to brooding over his disability.

PLANNED SUICIDE
Indicative of a carefully laid plan to end his life was Davis' action in writing letters to C. K. Armstrong of Avon, and Fred J. Smith of Pittsburg, members of the Knights of Pythias. These letters Davis gave to Brewen to be mailed. Their contents are not known.

An autopsy performed disclosed that the bullet penetrated Davis' left lung and came out his back. The stomach contents are to be sent to San Francisco to be analyzed for poisoning.
